ST. JOHN'S EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

"And this is his commandment, that we should believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ and love one another." (1 John 3:23)

As the essence of courage is to stake one's life on a possibility, so the essence of faith is to believe that the possibility exists.

So what is that possibility for you? What is the opportunity that your possibility presents? I can not remember where I found this quote or who wrote it. But I think it's great. Possibilities abound and no one has ever accomplished anything without a possibility. So what is your possibility?

Do you live your life with a courage that stakes your beliefs on the possibility that the witness of the disciples was correct, that Jesus rose from the grave as a victory over sin, death and the death? Do you live your life in faith that Christ the Son did rise and rules the world with the Father and the Holy Spirit in power and authority? Do you live your life in accordance with the command of Jesus to love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, and mind, and love your neighbors as yourself - to love one another?

Jesus laid down his life in order to us set free - free from sin, death, and the death, and free for loving service to others. Too often we forget that Jesus set us free FOR loving, caring, giving, serving, etc. But these are the actions Jesus taught his disciples: Then the righteous will answer him, "Lord, when was it that we saw you hungry and gave you food, or thirsty and gave you something to drink? And when was it that we saw you a stranger and welcomed you, or naked and gave you clothing? And when was it that we saw you sick or in prison and visited you?" And the king will answer them, "Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family, you did it to me." (Matthew 25:37-40)

We do give to the poor. We do visit the sick. We do welcome the stranger. We do remember the great possibilities that we have at St. John's: to care for, nurture, welcome, and serve the rise Christ! But we can and will do even more. Our courageous and faith will remain strong and firm.

You make St. John's what it is: a vibrate, relevant, faithful community of believers who courageously stand with the risen Christ, knowing that from his actions on the cross we live in the possibilities of hope, faith, and love.

To All Cookie Bakers:

Every year those that attend the Pacifica Synod Assembly get treated to some very delicious cookies. The Synod is asking us to contribute to the "Sweet Treat" again. You can help out, by bringing some cookies to the church by May 17. Our delegates, Paul and Laura Stephens, will take them up to Irvine. Thanks.

If you would like to order flowers for the church, call the office at 444-1272. We receive a discount from Conroy's Florist. The 2 side altar bouquets cost $25 for both.

Ruth Gunther says:

"HELLO to all. She misses us and hopes to be here soon. " Ruth is one of our shut-ins.

News from the Council Chair:

He is Risen INDEED!

I was very encouraged to see the number of people in attendance at the Easter Services. We had very good turnout. I would also like to thank everyone that worked on the Pancake Breakfast. As usual, it was a wonderful opportunity for fellowship.

I was glancing back at the newsletter from last April and noticed that we let an important date slip us by this past month. We had the 51st anniversary of our beginnings here at St. John's. While it was not as much of a big deal as the 50th, it was another year towards reaching our next milestone.

By the time that you read this, by the grace of God, we will have paid back over $20,000 of the outstanding loan balance and are continuing each month to make progress in repaying this encumbrance. We have been able to make this substantial improvement in our finances in great part as the result of sharing our facilities with East Hills. This partnership has been beneficial to both of our congregations and we have blessed with this opportunity to share what we have with another branch of our Christian family.

Pat Cowan spoke with the congregation about the proposed rock garden that is being considered for the lawn area in front of the church. We have made copies of a diagram and an area picture available for you to use to sketch your design. The diagram and photo are also available on the web site in the "What's New" page, which you can access from the link button on the left side of the home page. You can copy these files from the site for your use, but please do not modify the image, other than including your design. All submissions should be forwarded to Pat. The deadline date is May 31.

This month, we will be honoring the mothers' in our congregation on May 14th. Please be sure to join us in honoring these important and special members of our church family. I look forward to seeing you.

St. John’s Women Corner

When I became president in January, I felt like the women could do great things here at St. John’s and I know we are and we will and I THANK YOU for that. With a lot of help from many persons we have been busy. We have cooked the annual Shrove pancake dinner, ran the rummage sale, cooked one of the Lenten suppers, and helped with another, made Easter baskets for our shut-ins and organized the Easter breakfast. Whew! With our future projects: Sister’s in Christ lunch in May, the Salad Bowl luncheon in September, the Silent Auction in October and our shut-in’s Christmas baskets. I think we are going to take a rest during the summer, but you never know what may happen, because we are gearing up for the Pacifica Synod WELCA Assembly in November. We are going to Hawaii.

We meet monthly on the fourth Tuesday at 8:45 am, in the Conference Room. Please join us for a few minutes. We would love to hear from you.

East Hills Christian Church– Women’s Ministry has taken on a special project to help our troops overseas. They are collecting personal items. Entertainment items are needed such as: books, board games, playing cards, crosswords, poker chips, chess/checkers sets, sports equipment and AA/AAA batteries. And of course they need a snack, so any snack item you might want. Our troops could also use: pencils, paper, notebooks, pens, sunglasses, socks, and twin sheet sets. You can drop these items off at the EHCC Women’s Ministry table on Sundays.

Ethical Religion

BY

M. K. GANDHI

Printed & Published by Navjivan Press, Ahmedabad - 380 014, India

(This is an interesting little book that still has great implications for today. It is timeless and urgently needed in today's world. There are other, more current, books on this topic. Perhaps we'll explore those as well. Yet, this is a wonderful starting point. We'll publish parts of this book each month. The book is divided as follows: Introduction, Beginning, Ideal Morality, What is Moral Action?, Is There a Higher Law?, Morality As a Religion, Religious Morality or Moral Religion, Social Ideal, Personal Morality, and Seven Deadly Sins of Intolerance. Enjoy, Pastor George.)

Introduction

Hypocrisy has nowadays increased in the world. Whatever a man's religion, he thinks of only its outward form and fails in his real duty. In our crazy pursuit of wealth, we seldom think of the harm we cause, or are likely to cause, to others. Women in Europe do not hesitate in the least to wear soft gloves even though these are made by killing young and tender animals. It is known the world over how Mr. Rockefeller, said to be the richest man in the world, violated many rules of morality in amassing his fortune. It is because such conditions prevail around them that many people in Europe and America have turned against religion. They argue that, if any religion worth the name existed in the world, the inordinate wickedness that is rampant all round would not be there. This is a mistaken view. As it is common for a workman to quarrel with his tools and not try to look for his own faults, so instead of thinking of the wickedness in themselves, men brand religion itself as humbug and go on acting and living as they please.

Observing this trend and fearing that, if all religions are destroyed, a great calamity may befall the world and people may forsake the moral path altogether, many Americans and European have come forward to try, in a variety of ways, to bring the people back to that path.

A Society (The Society for Ethical Culture, Chicago.) has been founded which has shown, after an investigation of all religions, that not only do all of them teach morality but they are based for the most part on ethical principles; that it is one's duty to obey the laws of ethics whether or not one professes a religion; and that men who would not obey them could do no good either to themselves or to others, in this world or the next. The object of these societies is to influence those who have been led to look down upon all religions because of the prevailing hypocrisy. They find out the fundamentals of all religions, discuss and write about the ethical principles common to them and live up to them. This creed they call Ethical Religion. It is not among the aim of these societies to criticize any religion. Men professing all religions can, and do, join these societies. The advantage of such societies is that members adhere to their own faith more strictly and pay greater attention to its moral teaching. They firmly believe that man ought to abide by the laws of morality and that if he does not, it will mean an end to all order in the world and ultimate destruction.

Mr. Salter, a learned American, has published a book on the subject, which is excellent. Though it does not deal with any religion as such, it contains teachings of universal application. We shall publish the substance of these teachings every month until finished. All that needs to be said about the author is that he practices whatever he advises others to do. We would only appeal to the reader to try to live up to those moral precepts that appeal to him. Then only may we regard our efforts as having been fruitful.

Thanks Mom

After 21 years of marriage, My wife wanted me to take another woman out to dinner and a movie. She said, "I love you, but I know this other woman loves you and would love to spend some time with you." The other woman that my wife wanted me to visit was my MOTHER, who has been a widow for 19 years, but the demands of my work and my three children had made it possible to visit her only occasionally. That night I called to invite her to go out for dinner and a movie. "What's wrong, are you well," she asked? My mother is the type of woman who suspects that a late night call or a surprise invitation is a sign of bad news. "I thought that it would be pleasant to spend some time with you," I responded, "Just the two of us." She thought about it for a moment, and then said, "I would like that very much." That Friday after work, as I drove over to pick her up I was a bit nervous. When I arrived at her house, I noticed that she, too, seemed to be nervous about our date. She waited in the door with her coat on. She had curled her hair and was wearing the dress that she had worn to celebrate her last wedding anniversary. She smiled from a face that was as radiant as an angel's. "I told my friends that I was going to go out with my son, and they were impressed," she said, as she got into the car. "They can't wait to hear about our meeting." We went to a restaurant that, although not elegant, was very nice and cozy. My mother took my arm as if she were the First Lady. After we sat down, I had to read the menu. Her eyes could only read large print. Half way through the entries, I lifted my eyes and saw Mom sitting there staring at me. A nostalgic smile was on her lips. "It was I who used to have to read the menu when you were small," she said. "Then it's time that you relax and let me return the favor," I responded. During the dinner, we had an agreeable conversation--nothing extraordinary but catching up on recent events of each other's life. We talked so much that we missed the movie. As we arrived at her house later, she said, "I'll go out with you again, but only if you let me invite you." I agreed. "How was your dinner date?" asked my wife when I got home. "Very nice; much more so than I could have imagined," I answered. A few days later, my mother died of a massive heart attack. It happened so suddenly that I didn't have a chance to do anything for her. Some time later, I received an envelope with a copy of a restaurant receipt from the same place mother and I had dined. An attached note said: "I paid this bill in advance. I wasn't sure that I could be there; but nevertheless, I paid for two plates - one for you and the other for your wife. You will never know what that night meant for me. I love you, son. "At that moment, I understood the importance of saying in time: "I LOVE YOU" and to give our loved ones the time that they deserve. Nothing in life is more important than your family. Give them the time they deserve, because these things cannot be put off till "some other time." Somebody said it takes about six weeks to get back to normal after you've had a baby ... somebody doesn't know that once you're a mother, "normal" is history. Somebody said you learn how to be a mother by instinct .. somebody never took a three-year-old shopping. Somebody said being a mother is boring ... somebody never rode in a car driven by a teenager with a driver's permit. Somebody said if you're a "good" mother, your child will "turn out good" ... somebody thinks a child comes with directions and a guarantee. Somebody said "good" mothers never raise their voices .. somebody never came out the back door just in time to see her child hit a golf ball through the neighbor's kitchen window. Somebody said you don't need an education to be a mother ... somebody never helped a fourth grader with his math. Somebody said you can't love the fifth child as much as you love the first .. somebody doesn't have five children. Somebody said a mother can find all the answers to her child-rearing questions in the books ... somebody never had a child stuff beans up his nose or in his ears. Somebody said the hardest part of being a mother is labor and delivery ... somebody never watched her "baby" get on the bus for the first day of kindergarten ... or on a plane headed for military "boot camp." Somebody said a mother can do her job with her eyes closed and one hand tied behind her back ... somebody never organized seven giggling Brownies to sell cookies. Somebody said a mother can stop worrying after her child gets married .. somebody doesn't know that marriage adds a new son or daughter-in-law to a mother's heartstrings. Somebody said a mother's job is done when her last child leaves home .. somebody never had grandchildren. Somebody said your mother knows you love her, so you don't need to tell her .. somebody isn't a mother. Pass this along to all the "mothers" in your life. I think we should also pass it on to anyone who has ever loved and/or lost a mother. God doesn't call the qualified, He qualifies the called.
